RACER SMASHES THROUGH AK TRACK FENCE

HERE'S the spill that thrilled spectators at 100-mile stock car classic at the Ak-Sar-Ben track Sunday. Barney Burg, Indianapolis driver, careened through the west fence in the first lap of the big race. Burg was taken to the hospital but was able to go home later. The lower photo shows Lawrence O. Hughes, who won the event. Hughes averaged 62.2 miles an hour for the one hundred laps, including one stop for gas and water.
